Participant terms and conditions Glacier Marathon Pitztal-Imst 2018

The organizer or representatives of this event accept no responsibility for any damages, accidents or injuries of any type that may possibly occur caused by deliberate or gross negligence in the participation in the Glacier Marathon Pitztal-Imst 2018.

This is effective for the sponsors, the individual towns and the town Imst. I confirm that for the participation in this competition I have trained, I am physically fit and my health has been certified by a doctor.

I understand that my registration data, photos which are made, video recordings and interviews in radio, television, books, photo mechanised duplication, can be used and passed on. I ensure that my date of birth and personal best time are correct and that my start number will not be passed on to another person.

I accept that I can be disqualified if I leave the marked route, change the start number in any way especially if I hide or change the sponsors print. If I do not complete, if the event is cancelled or interrupted due to force majeure, I have no entitlement for a reimbursement of my entry fee. In an injury-related withdrawal up to 4 weeks prior to the event (04th June 2018), the entry fee can exceptionally be reimbursed.

It is also forbidden that participants take a dog as companionship. Spectators on the other hand are welcomed so long as the dogs are kept on leads. The organizer can make minor changes to the time scheduling if necessary.

With the payment of the entry fee declares every participant that they understand the rules of the competition. It will be reinforced again that the marathon routes will be mostly run on the Pitztaler main road and that the traffic will only be partly closed. The police and volunteers will be in charge of the necessary road closures and safety measures. In the event of any damage or theft, no responsibility can be accepted. The start is at your own risk and every participant is responsible for their own fitness.
